We make Stack Overflow for Teams to manage and share knowledge across your organization. We built it based on years of experience building Stack Overflow's public platform, and we make it better by listening to you, our users.

Help us learn and improve by volunteering to be part of our Research user group. To opt in, head over to your Stack Overflow email settings page, and toggle Research to On.

We won't spam you, but you'll occasionally receive invitations to participate in surveys, usability tests, and more. Only a few per year.
