Overview

The For You feature is a personalized, running feed of notifications, actions, and alerts for each user on the site. The For You feed can help you get more from your Stack Overflow site:

- A richer knowledge base For You alerts reveal actions you can take to create a deeper pool of shared knowledge.
- Up-to-date information For You alerts help keep content from going stale. You can receive alerts when questions need answers or other content may be out of date.
- Streamline your knowledge sharing For You provides a central location with actions and steps to share your expertise or discovering new knowledge.

The For You link sits in the left-hand menu, with a blue dot to the right to indicate the presence of new notifications. Click For You to go to your "For You" summary page. You can also receive For You alerts by email.

The screenshot shows the Stack Overflow interface. The top navigation bar includes the Stack Overflow logo, a search bar, and user statistics (400 answers, 2 questions, 11 tags, 2+ notifications). The left sidebar menu has 'For You' selected with a blue dot. The main content area displays a question titled 'What's the difference between bugs and insects?' with 0 votes, 1 answer, and 10 views. The question is tagged 'untagged' and was asked by 'Test Question, Asker' on Oct 25, 2019. Below the question is an answer by 'Test Question Answerer' stating that insects have three body parts and six legs, while bugs have four wings and two antennae. A comment by 'Test Question, Asker' asks 'what about centipedes?'.
